WELCOME TO OUR COMMUNITY

Welcome to Rosenthal, a masterplanned development of more than 1,300 residential allotments in the historic township of Sunbury, where the past and the future collide in a celebration of Australian life.

Rosenthal

Few locations have the historical significance of Sunbury; the birthplace of The Ashes, the town that witnessed the charge of the Gold Rush and lent its name to Australia's greatest music festival.

And few can boast the same promise of growth, with Victoria's capital just 35 minutes away and an ever expanding network of transport options, community facilities, parklands, retail and commercial ventures providing a framework for prosperity.

But there's more to Rosenthal than promise. It offers a sense of place, founded on the values that have been such an intrinsic part of Sunbury for generations.

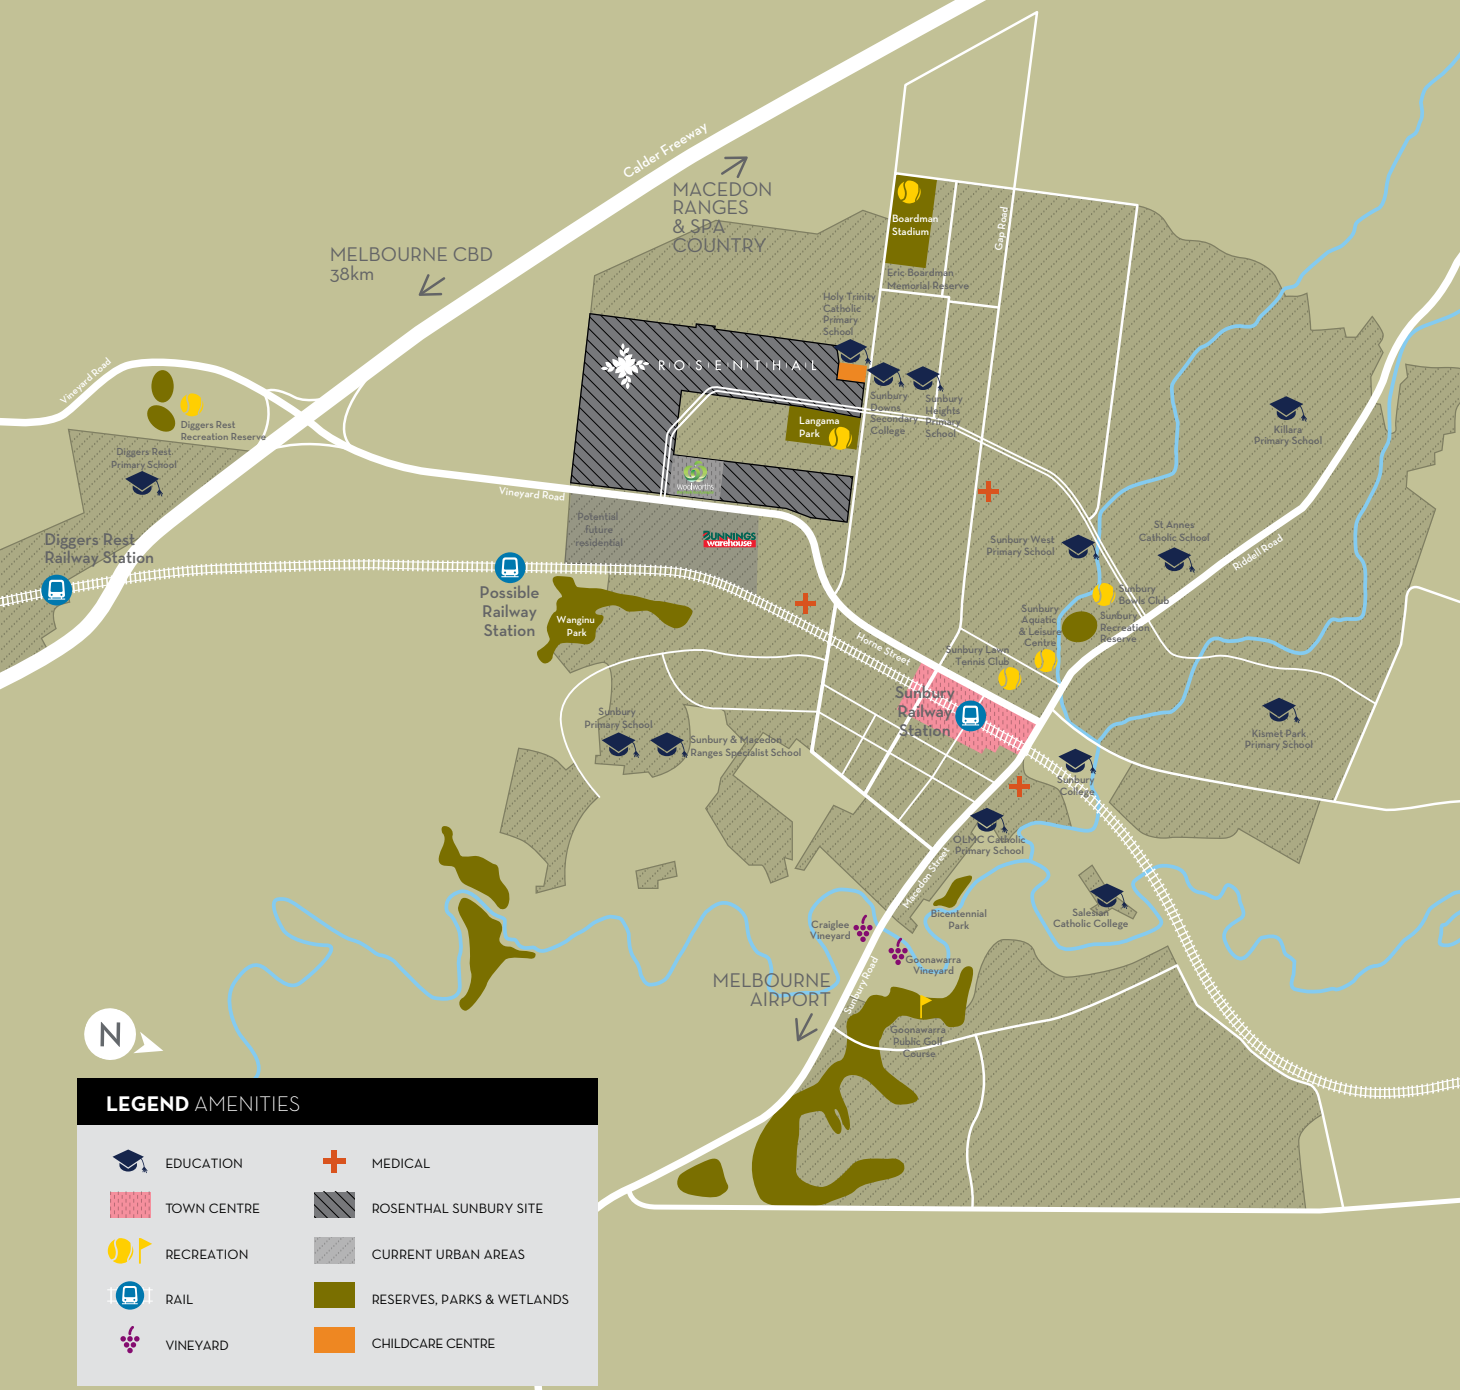

Rosenthal is all about community and belonging. Within this masterplanned development of green spaces, superb homesites and environmentally responsible planning, there will be a socially active community of people bonded by their location.

WELCOME TO CONVENIENCE

Leisure activities abound. Catch a film at the region's major cinema just down the road, followed by dinner at one of a host of restaurants serving Thai, Italian, Mexican, Indian and many other international cuisines.

Enjoy an active lifestyle and take advantage of the many parks, reserves and sporting clubs nearby. The Sunbury Football Club is always on the lookout for new players!
